

Useful Websites for Parents of Gifted and Talented Children

www.gifted.org

Parents of gifted children established this website to offer support and information for parents of gifted young people. At this site parents can find advocacy and professional training opportunities, as well as a forum to share ideas and concerns about life with gifted kids.

www.gtworld.org

This site contains, among other things, a listing of helpful definitions related to giftedness, helpful links, reading lists, research articles, and other pertinent information. It offers a range of ideas and information on a wide range of issues in gifted education.

www.gifted.uconn.edu/nrcgt.html

Funded by the U.S. Department of Education, NRC/GT investigates characteristics, development, and educational services for gifted and talented students. This organization is a collaborative effort of several universities, state departments of education, public and private schools, content area consultants, parent groups, and businesses.

www.ri.net/gifted\_talented/parents.html

This site contains numerous links to information about gifted children, parenting, and more.

www.ri.net/gifted\_talented/programs.html

This site provides descriptions, links, and contact information for a wide variety of programs geared to meeting the needs of the gifted child.

www.tagfam.org

This Internet-based support community is for talented and gifted individuals and their families. It works to strengthen relationships between individuals, families, and organizations advocating on behalf of gifted and talented young people. Here you will find resources, which address meeting the unique academic, social, and emotional needs of gifted kids.

www.hoagiesgifted.org

This site provides information on the special needs of gifted youth, special programs available, and other topics in gifted education. Children will find contests, reading lists, and entertaining activities. This site has something for everyone.

www.sengifted.org

This organization helps parents identify giftedness in their children, and helps children to better understand and accept their unique talents. It provides a form with which educators and parents may communicate.